

Stan Trier Biography

Stan Trier is a project scientist in the Mesoscale and Microscale Meteorology Laboratory at NCAR. His research interests include mesoscale convective systems (large groups of thunderstorms), environmental factors influencing thunderstorm initiation, and effects of thunderstorms on aviation turbulence. He received a B.S. in meteorology from Florida State University, an M.S. in meteorology from Penn State University and a Ph.D. in atmospheric science from Colorado State University.